- About Croatia: Geographically, Croatia is a middle European and Mediterranean country. Tourists are offered a very varied package often referred to as the „Mecca“ of golf, thanks to the various regions (mountain range, Pannonic plane and Adriatic coast), all incorporating wonderful and unspoilt nature and culture. The Adriatic coast gets 2,600 hours of sun per year and is therefore one of the sunniest coasts in Europe. 1,185 islands, of which 66 are inhabited, run along the 1,600 km coastline.
- Legal conditions: The Croatian Constitution ensures that rights acquired from capital investments are not reduced by any kind of law or legal act. The Croatian Constitution ensures that any profits do not have to remain within the country, and that any invested capital can be removed from the country on completion.
- The reciprocal regulations in Croatia ensure that a foreign, local or corporate body can acquire property (movables and real-estate) and be at liberty to do what he wants with it.
- A foreign investor has a right to additional security which is not given to native investors.
